A Western Point on Running a Census at a Profit.

"The Inter-Decennial census was a soft snap for some of the Western States" said an official in the Interior Department Tuesday. Only five complied with the provisions of the law, and these were as follows, with the amounts claimed as due from the government under the act: New Mexico, $4,839; Florida, $9,326; Colorado, $20,673; Nebraska, $34,759; Dakota, $35,506. New Mexico has been paid and the claims of the others are now passing the regular auditing channels in the Treasury. Dakota, Nebraska and Colorado, it is said, receive actually more money from the government than they have paid out. This was owing to the government bonus being largely augmented by the increase of population. Dakota, which was increased 426.61 per cent., is particularly jubilant that it can run a census at a profit, and get ahead of Uncle Sam to the tune of a cool $10,000.

C. C. Stevenson, of Gold Hill, is being talked of by the Republicans of this State as a good man for them to run for Governor next Fall. Mr. Stevenson is supposed to have a pretty big sack—Virginia Chronicle.

EQUALIZATION NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT AT a regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners of Washoe County, Nevada, held on the 24th day of September, 1885, said Commissioners sitting as a Board of Equalization, upon complaint duly made and entered therein, caused citations to issue as follows:

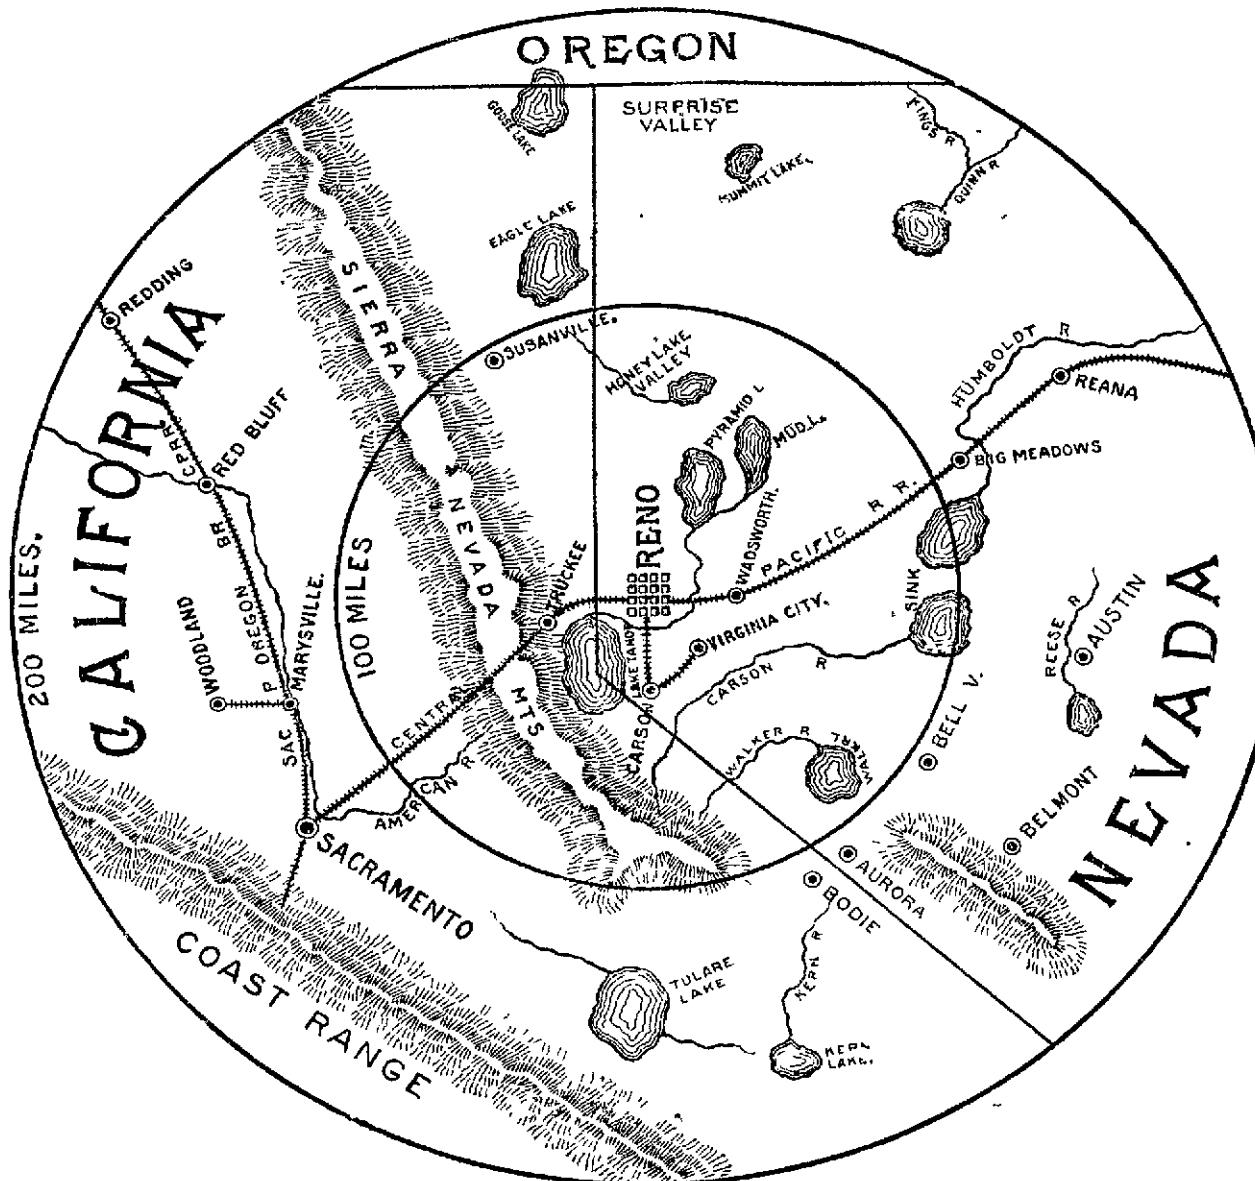

1. To W. B. Todhunter, requiring him, the said W. B. Todhunter, to be and appear before said Board on the 30th day of September, 1885, and show cause why the number of stock cattle assessed to him for the year 1885, should not be raised from $1,500 to $3,000, and the value thereof from $2,500 to $45,000. That on the 30th day of September, 1885, the consideration thereof was continued until Monday, October 5, 1885, at which time the Board proceeded to consider the matter, and no appearance being made or objections filed therein, the number of stock cattle assessed to him was raised from $1,500 to $3,000, and the value thereof, $22,500, was added to the assessed valuation of his said property, thus raising the assessed valuation of said personal property from $22,500 to $45,000.

2. To George D. Winters, citing him to appear before the Board on the 30th day of September, 1885, and to show cause why the valuation of personal property assessed to him for the year 1885, should not be raised from $10,930 to $23,940. That on the 30th day of September, 1885, the consideration thereof was continued until Monday, October 5, 1885, at which time the Board proceeded to the consideration of the matter, and no appearance being made or objections filed therein, the valuation of his personal property was raised as follows, to wit: 66 head of horses from $10 per head to $20 per head, and 2,400 head of sheep returned by him was raised to 9,000 head thus raising the assessed valuation of his sheep from $3,000 to $11,250, and a total raise of value of personal property from $6,430 to $16,000. T. V. JULIEN, Clerk of the Board. RENO, Oct. 8, 1885.

LURID SKIES.

Europe is perpetually in danger of complications. Rival nations stand face to face indulging in jealousies. Different races are swayed by antipathies or conflicting ambitions. Differences in modes of government complicate the problem. France and Switzerland are republics; Russia is a despotism; Germany and Austria are autocratic monarchies; Great Britain and Italy are liberal monarchies; and dynastic interests in the various dominions beget clashing policies. Some nationalities are strong from a common origin and common aims; others are weak from the unlikeness of their constituents. Turkey, for instance, is barely tolerated because mightier nations are not agreed as to how its provinces shall be divided; while Germany and Italy have the ardor of a new unity, a new birth. It is known of course that there are dreams of ascendancy indulged by races of Slavic origin. They chafe at the domination of the Germanic race; and the Huns claim a modified independence, and cherish a sympathy for peoples of Asiatic origin that help make up the Turkish empire.

And the Greeks, though a small nation, are a restless people. Their neighbors, whose ancestors two thousand years ago sometimes served, sometimes enslaved the Hellenic race, are also unquiet, and threaten oft to wrench off provinces from Turkey. According to one of our Eastern exchanges, from which these historical statements are chiefly culled, when the fires of rebellion are kindled no one can tell how far the conflagration will extend. Like the forest fires of Michigan which a few years ago threatened to extend from Lake Erie to Lake Superior, the flames of revolution in principalities in the valleys of the Danube or on the slopes of the Balkan, may terrify and endanger all Europe. And this is the danger in Europe now. Roumelia breaks out in insurrection; Bulgaria attempts to annex the fiery province, and Servia takes alarm. The successful union of two feeble provinces makes them a rival of her and menaces her security. Austria is threatened too by the spreading flames, and Russia, always gazing at Constantinople with greedy eyes, asks, Has not the hour arrived for me to clutch the prize?

The Turk sees however that all this curtails his dominion. He is ready to summon his fierce legions and fling them on the rebellious provinces. But this introduces another element into the fray. The religious question assumes prominence. The Turks are Moslems, the Roumelians and Bulgarians are Greek Christians; and sectarian animosity asks, Shall Mohammedan ferocity outrage Christian Civilization? Before the Turk strikes however, he wishes to try diplomacy. As a European congress guaranteed the stability of his empire, he asks the leading European powers to mediate between him and his rebellious subjects. An assembly of diplomats will therefore soon convene. Great Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Germany, Austria and Russia will be represented in the Congress, and an attempt be made to patch up a peace. From the nature of the case, however, it can only be a truce; and though there may be an attempt to save Turkey from further spoilation, the immediate result will probably be to furnish every nation a justification for keeping up costly armies that impoverish and annoy their people.

The Postoffice Department has made arrangements for a weekly report of the operations of the new delivery service during this month, with a view to showing whether or not the plan will be a success. Instructions have been forwarded to the Postmasters at New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and other large commercial centers, directing that there be no unnecessary delays in forwarding special delivery letters. The Postmaster-General wants everything possible done to popularize the measure.

LOGAN IN MARYLAND.

General John A. Logan was tendered a banquet at the Eutaw House, Baltimore, Thursday night by the Logan Invincibles of Maryland. About 125 people participated in the banquet. After the removal of the cloth General Logan was welcomed by William Marneat, the Republican candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Gen. Logan responded by returning thanks to the Logan Invincibles, and paid a high compliment to the sociability, hospitality, energy, wealth, intelligence and growth of Baltimore. Of national affairs he said "this Government is a republic only in name, and will be until the people shall be educated up to the point where every citizen shall have a voice in the affairs of the nation without limit or hindrance. He declared at the duty of every honest man of whatever party to speak and vote against all who tolerated fraud or violence to deprive the American citizen of his ballot and of voting for his choice. The education of the illiterate was the great remedy to relieve the country from the disgrace now resting upon it because of the brutality exercised against the rights of American citizens in many parts of the Union. The Republican party attempted to enact appropriate measures for the education of those unable to educate themselves, but had been defeated by the votes of those who tried to betray the Government, and who are now dominant in the Southern States—the party of State rights, free trade, secession and relentless persecution. He asked if the present Administration will use its influence toward trying a remedy for this evil, or quietly encourage it in order to continue the solid South, so that with their Northern allies the country can be kept within Democratic control. He spoke of the cry of "Bloody Shirt" and said it was the Democrats who made the cry upon every criticism of those who had tried to destroy the Union. Speaking of the campaign in Virginia, he said he learned from the newspapers that the Democratic candidate for Governor uses a saddle and bridle used by Robert E. Lee, and, from the shouts, one would suppose the saddle was the candidate and not the man who rides upon it. If he should be elected, doubtless it would be by the influence of that saddle and bridle. A treason-stained saddle appears to be the leading card. Remarks were also made by Hon. S. B. Ekins, Hon. John L. Thomas and others.

The President, it is understood is very solicitous as to the reorganization of the Civil Service Commission. He holds a peculiar relation towards it, in that civil service reform is to be the corner-stone of the Administration. It now calls for the nicest judgement of men in filling the places of the present Commissioners. The unfortunate conditions are that he has not as yet the choice only between politicians and pedagogues, and neither one or the other is desirable in such a place, while the salary is not high enough to tempt men in the prime of business life. It was Mr. Gregory's desire to have retired some time ago, but Mr. Eaton suggested that it would be well to wait until his own case was disposed of, so as not to unnecessarily embarrass the President. Mr. Gregory has now asked the President to name his successor. There is no evidence of any such desire on the part of Judge Thoman. He will be fired unmercifully when the President gets his new slate ready.

Benjamin H. Green, of New Orleans, has been appointed Surveyor-General of Montana. We have understood the Democratic policy was to appoint actual residents to offices in the Territories.

The Associated Press reporter telegraphs that the resignation of Gov. Tritle gives general satisfaction to the people of Arizona. We don't believe the statement.

The Virginia Chronicle says there has been quite a stampede of prospectors from the little mining camps along the line of the Carson & Colorado railroad during the past three weeks, all bound for the new Eldorado recently discovered in Esmeralda county, near Hawthorne, known as Lake District. In this new mining camp it is alleged that a vein of gold-bearing quartz has been uncovered several feet in width, carrying the yellow metal in the proportion of $180 to each ton of quartz. On this vein the La Panta and several other claims have been located.

Fires at Donner.

The Truckee Republican says: During the past week two unoccupied buildings have been set on fire and burned to the ground on the banks of Donner Lake. In one case the fire spread among the trees of one of the most beautiful groves on the lake, and killed a number of them. Parties who saw the smoke went to the spot with buckets, and it was quite a task to stop the spread of the flames. Should a general burning of the forest at the lake occur, the great natural beauty of our most famous pleasure resort would be entirely destroyed. It would also destroy many hundred dollars' worth of property and endanger the sheds and track of the Central Pacific railroad. The setting of fires in the forest is a criminal offense, and a severe penalty is attached to the act under our statutes. No one, however, thinks the fires were set willfully or maliciously, but carelessly and thoughtlessly. It is to be hoped that hereafter every one visiting beautiful Donner will do no act to destroy its value and charms.

THE ARIZONA OFFICIALS.

Governor Tritle's Resignation—Republicans Indicted.

S. F. Call 8th.

Judging from a Tucson dispatch received in this city yesterday, the Democratic injunction to "turn the rascals out" is being complied with, for things are being made very uncomfortable for the Arizona Federal officials, who, despite a change in the administration, have strenuously held on. It seems that the United States Grand Jury, which has been sarcastically dubbed a "Democratic booming committee," has presented indictments against J. A. Zabriskie, United States Attorney, Royal A. Johnson, United States Surveyor-General, and L. Wolff, Deputy United States Surveyor, under the civil service act, for a too zealous attention to political contributions during the last campaign. This manifestly is dealing civil service reform in altopathic doses to these Federal officials.

The same dispatch also announced that Governor F. A. Tritle had sent his resignation to the President by mail and that this act gives general satisfaction to the people of Arizona. He also is a Republican, who has recently received a good deal of newspaper notoriety, being dubbed "the commander-in-chief of the Arizona militia and the naval squadron of the Gila," and classified among the Republican officials who persisted in clinging to office. It was insinuated that when Secretary Van Arman, a San Francisco journalist, who struck a good thing by going to Arizona, when recently in Washington, had been assured that there would be no removals made by the present Federal incumbents in Arizona. This only intensified the malignancy of the attacks upon the Governor based upon the dissatisfaction existing in the Territory against him and the last Legislature. It was charged that the outrageous acts of the Legislature showed upon their face bare-faced robbery and the Grand Jury was urged to look into these matters. It was claimed that the Legislature passed an appropriation of $23,700 for clerk hire, more than three times as much as the members of the Legislature received; that printing costing $19,987 could have been done for less than $500, and that there was something wrong in the appropriation of $100,000 for an insane asylum. It was further insinuated that county courts had been created against the expressed will of the people, and that other objectionable measures had been enacted by the Legislature and approved by the Governor. The salary of the latter official is but $2,600 a year, and owing to the bitter attacks, the clamor for his removal, and the fact that a Democratic Congress and administration would have to review the Territorial legislation, the Governor must have reached the conclusion that he was receiving and would probably receive more attention than he was paid for.

It will not be the fault of the boys composing the two Reno hose companies if their ball, to be given during Fair week, is not a success.

SENATOR JONES.

Nevada's Senior Senator Interviewed in Oregon—His Trip to Alaska—The Silver and Chinese Questions.

Portland News, Oct. 1st.

Senator John P. Jones, who so long and so ably represented Nevada, the land of sagebrush and silver, in the Senate, arrived in this city yesterday. The distinguished statesman was accompanied by his wife, nieces and son, Dr. Giunes, wife and son, of Sacramento, and R. E. Moulton, of New York.

Senator Jones is now serving his second term in the Senate, which will expire on March 4, 1886. He is a distinguished looking man, fifty-five years of age, with long beard, keen eyes and pleasant smile.

Senator Jones is the ablest man that ever represented the State of Nevada in the Senate, and his famous speech on the silver question is one of the best ever delivered in Washington. It attracted the attention of the thinkers of both America and Europe. He is noted for his openhanded liberality, and is of such a genial nature that he is possessed of a host of friends.

Last evening when the News representative entered the Esmond Hotel he found quite a number of distinguished gentlemen waiting to pay their respects to the Senator. Among these were ex-Governor Woods, Colonel Frank Drake, ex-member of the Nevada Legislature; A. T. Stephens, Colonel J. H. Mills, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives of Nevada; W. T. White, Congressman M. C. George, Ben Holladay, General Rufus Ingalls and others. Senator Jones was warmly received by his waiting friends, and it was only after quite a little wait that he was enabled to grant the reporter an interview.

"The trip to Alaska was one of the pleasantest I ever had," said Senator Jones; "the Muir glacier, as the showmen say, was alone worth the price of admission. Just imagine towers and pinnacles of ice 250 and 300 feet high, like cities of the ice king, glistening with prismatic hues, and falling into the sea with a sound like salvos of artillery. The sound made was something fearful. It was a mighty and impressive drama of nature, enacted with Titanic properties, and gigantic scene shifters, in the presence of an audience, who felt their insignificance in the face of such a wonder."

"How did you like the appearance of the Treadwell mine?"

"It is a magnificent deposit of ore 480 or 490 feet in width, with a slate foot wall and a granite hanging wall. The ledge has been traced for a distance of two or three miles. Ore in almost inexhaustible quantities is plainly in sight."

"Do you care, Senator, to hazard a prophecy on the result of the forthcoming election in New York?"

"Of course," said the Senator, with a merry laugh, "I predict that the Republicans will win."

"The silver question, Senator, is now attracting considerable attention. What do you think the outcome of the agitation will be?"

"It is simply possible that there will be a modification of the present law, but I am positive there will be no cessation of the coinage of silver. It seems a little singular to us plain Western men that when everything is down, when a dollar will buy more wheat and flour, more blood and sweat than ever before, that the money lenders cry out that money is getting scarcer and dearer. The silver question will come before Congress this Winter, and discussion will be had which will throw considerable light on the question, and perhaps change public sentiment on that point. The rays of the sun are just as bright, the earth as fruitful, and the people as hopeful as ever; but two or three million toilers in this country are idle who are willing to work. The reason for this is the timidity of capital, which stands aloof and refuses to invest because it is thought the lowest point has not yet been reached. Some people say that the alleged production is the cause of the existing dullness. If this is the case, tramps should be rewarded and honest, industrious workers be put to jail, to stop this great alleged evil overproduction."

"What do you think of the existing Chinese situation?"

"I am, and always have been, in favor of stopping Chinese immigration to this country. The lovers of Chinese cheap labor ought to immigrate to Pekin. The journey will not cost much and one employer can go there and employ a hundred slavish toilers cheaper than he can bring the hundred here. There the advocate of cheap labor can have and enjoy the culmination of what is only undergoing a process of evolution here. If the Chinese cheap labor advocates prevail, it is simply a question of time when American institutions will be like those of China with all her disgusting elements. You cannot have self respecting citizens and at the same time have your labor performed by willing slaves. Therefore, I contend, and emphatically declare, that no argument can be made in favor of bringing Chinese slave labor on American soil, to undermine and enslave the American laborer."
